Hogs—Receipts, 2,500; shipments, 300. The receipts of hogs this week exhibit a decrease of 3,550, compared with last week, but an increase of 2,500 over the same week a year ago, and only a slight change compared with the corresponding time two years ago. Thus far the receipts are over 231,000 larger than for the same time last year and for the rounth thus far there is a gain of over 3,000, compared with the same period a year ago. For the week ending yesterday the leading local packers bought a total of 17,815, against 10,113 the preceding week and 12,483 the same week a year ago. During and 12,483 the same week a year ago. During the same period the shipments were 7,865, against 15,543 the preceding week and 8,611 the corresponding week a year ago. Buyers have been masters of the situation in the hog market this week, as may be seen by the course in prices, which has been decidedly downward. The receipts have been no excuse for the developments, but it appears that the time had come for the usual fall slaughter in values. On account of future developments at this time in the year a decline in prices now could hardly have been unexpected to most dealers, but, of course, shippers were not prepared for what course, shippers were not prepared for what might be considered the unusual break and there is no doubt that plenty of money was lost on this week's business. At the beginning of the week buyers seemed to be satisfied with a decline of 10@15c per day, but later they were more exacting and finally took off 20@25c in one slice. The market here, of course, was affected by the situation in larger centers and while the loss here was very heavy comparison shows that other places received a harder jolt than this. At the low time in the week average prices brief (8.) were right around 60c lower than on Monday. 20194. M The sharp reaction in prices naturally slackened the receipts, and with smaller supplies the market toward the close of the week began to rally. There was a slight upturn in prices at the close yesterday and with a further advance to-day the average at the close of the week is probably not to exceed 6% lower than Monday, and in their present position prices are the lowest since the 1st of August. The receipts to-day were small, and, in fact, proved to be barely large enough to meet the local requirements. The market opened with packers very industrious and offering prices that they felt sure would secure the supply. Salesmen were very wining to accept the advance and consequently the market to accept the advance and consequently the market from the start was quite active and the supply was soon exhausted at prices generally estimated at 19615c higher than yesterday morning. There were a few shipping orders in sight, but the pace set by packers seemed to be too fast, and not many of the offerings sold to shipfast, and not many of the offerings sold to ship-pers. There were very few hogs arrived on late trains and they were all sold promptly on a basis of morning prices. It appears that there will be at least a steady and possibly strong market for the next few days, but at this time in the year it is not best for the selling side to expect too much and it is advisable for shippers to use caution in buying in the country. Sales to-day ranged from $5.50@5.75 and the bulk of the supply sold at $5.60@5.70. Sheep-Receipts small; marketing of sheep and lambs is of smaller vol-ume, the total this week indicating a decrease 800 compared with last week, over 1,100 compared with the same week a year ago, and over 4.200 compared with the corresponding week two years ago. The receipts thus far this year are over 5,700 larger than the same time last year, and for the month thus far there is a decrease of over 1,000 compared with the same period a year over 1,000 compared with the same period a year ago. There has been rather a quiet trade in the sheep and lamb division this week. The receipts have been very smail and there has been really nothing to encourage interest among buyers. Therefore salesmen have not had an easy job in transferring their consignments, but were successful in maintaining at least steady prices compared with those prevailing at the close of last week. Occasionally there was a weaker tendency as the result of deficient quality, but at no time was the change enough to warrant a no time was the change enough to warrant a reduction in quotations. Most of the week ship-pers had very little opposition in the market and ey were naturally slow in making their selections, but at the close of the week there was percased competition from local butchers and there was more animation in the trade than there had been for several days. In fact, some of the closing sales were 25c higher. The highest prices paid this week were $5.50 for lambs and $3.50 for sheep. There were hardly enough fresh arrivals to-day to make a market, and as usual on Saturday and under similar circumstances there was no competition between buyers and it was more or less difficult to transfer the offerings. Finally, however, all were sold and sales in-dicate that steady prices were secured compared with the way equal kinds sold yesterday. Quota-

REVIEW

DECLINING DEMAND FOR IRON AND STEEL PLAINLY APPARENT.

Railroad Earnings Show Decisive Increase in Their Net Return-Progress of Crops Favorable.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 .- The demand for stocks was apathetic to-day and made the market vulnerable to very light selling. Some of this was palpably professional short selling and there seemed to be a professional contest in the late dealings. The party of reaction centered their attack on United States Steel preferred, forcing it down 2% to 59. This stock sold at 58% last month, but otherwise never sold before as low as to-day's price. The party favoring support in the market seemed most active in Amalgamated Copper. That stock resisted the general depression and was marked up at one time 1% over last night. There was some systematic buying also of Chicago & Alton.

The contest was wholly professional and not based on any news so far as known. London helped the depression here somewhat and sold stock moderately. Fears are entertained there that next week's Stock Exchange settlement may uncover some embarrassment. The tone of the weekly trade reviews was somewhat conservative ing ease in the money market in some reand reflected the state of doubt which has vival of investment demand for a good States Steel dividends and the decline in | cent. each from the closing bid of last week. profits in the iron and steel industries. The Following are Saturday's share sales and reports of weekly bank clearings show sharp contraction as a whole, compared with the corresponding week of last year. But in the analysis it is found that the decrease is wholly due to shrinkage in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, the four other leading cities showing considerable increase and the average for all other cities a small increase. The market seemed encouraged by the bank statement and rallied momentarily. The increase in cash was considerably larger than expected, but the statement is so much complicated by the merger operations by the National Bank of Commerce and the Western National as to throw it out of balance. It is inferred from the small loan change that commercial borrowing has kept pretty steady pace with the liquidation in the stock market. The market closed easy and quite active.

NEW SECURITIES APPEAR. Developments during the week have resulted in a new outpouring of securities on the market and an almost entire paralysis of demand for stocks most largely for sale, The effect has been a renewal of the feeling of depression and gloom which always gathers over Wall street in a period of declining prices. The liquidation has been of a different character from that of the recent past, which was manifestly forced by financial necessities due to the failure to find a market for the many new securities formed out of recent promotion projects. This week the selling is attributed to distrust on the part of holders over the industrial outlook and over the future earning power of shares in corporations. There has been an occasional account liquidated, which seemed to be caused by the maturing of a loan on which extension could not be had, and for which the collateral therefo came upon the market. But the prevailing topic in Wall street has been the irritation and disgust of shareholders over the devel opments regarding the properties in which they have embarked their money, leading them to abandon hope of better conditions and to throw over their holdings for what they would bring.

REDUCTION OF STEEL DIVIDENDS. The reduction of the dividend on United States Steel from 4 per cent. to a 2 per cent. basis was the first of these developments. The long downward course of this stock in the market seemed a sufficient intimation of what was to come. But the fact remains that the common expectation in speculative circles was disappointing, as it was supposed the retention of the dividend involved a policy connected with the Adams formation of the corporation, which would | American not be departed from while funds were available for the distribution. The wisdom of this policy came in for criticism when the corporation announced its bond issue and the necessity for increasing working capital which prompted the bond issue. In view of the partial failure of the bond offering and the marked decline in the rate of net earnings and the heavy decrease in the unfilled orders on hand compared with last year's corresponding quarterly state-ment, the wisdom of the present dividend reduction is generally conceded by disinreduction is generally conceded by disin-terested financial critics. But this com-mendation carries with it a criticism of Columbus & Hock. Val... having entered upon dividend payments in the first place, in view of the enlarged outlay ahead. The wisdom of the reduction is predicated upon an admission of the fact, also, that a declining demand for iron and steel is to be faced. The implications to be drawn from this prospect proved of so disturbing a character as to throw sentiment into depression again. Iron and steel as a barometer of general trade conditions have a high authority in Wall street, and the proportions of the reaction in that market thus reduced to statistics made a deep impression. The dread of general trade reaction is thus aggravated. Stocks of companies in the metal industries were most immediately affected in some particular, especially Amalgamated Copper and the railroad equipment companies. But no part of the list escaped the influence of the de-

SHRINKAGE IN STEEL STOCKS. The enormous market shrinkage in the steel stocks and the final outcome in the dividend reduction gives rise to disgruntled complaint of the original dividend payments as bearing on stock market exigencies as much as on financial policy. This spirit of irritation over conditions of promotion and flotation is enormously aggravated by the disclosures contained in the testimony in relation to the United States Shipbuilding fiasco. The tone of much of the discussion in the neighborhood of the Stock Exchange during the past week has been of a bitterness and scope that Wall street heretofore has regarded as narrow and prejudiced when coming from outside sources. Heavy overcapitalization of corporations is one of the least heinous offenses found in the list laid at the doors of the leaders of the great inflation of the last few years. > False representations of values and earning power, reckless diversion of credits of institutions to promotions purposes and secret pooling agreements to assure the first market for the securities of insiders under manipulation of paid market manfor petitioner. Affidavits of F. S. Chase agers are some of the incidents brought on denial, etc. Respondent's demurrer to within the range of charges. The result has been a feeling of profound distrust amongst the whole class of shareholders in new industrial securities and suspicion of motives followed with unmixed confidence. The force of these considerations has been sufficient to overcome any favorable factors in the situation. The dread of money stringency has definitely passed away and a growing activity in the market for mercanof a contraction of supplies for regular commercial purposes. Borrowers who have fear of stringency find their precautions unneeded and are reloaning, thus relaxing the extra demand and leading to freer offerings by regular lenders. The progress of the crops has been favorable and a freer movement of grain has been reflected in the traffic reports of the great railroads and in the supplies in the exchange market. Rail- Ruah Fertilizer pref ...... road earnings show decisive increase in the net return in spite of the large increases in expenditures, largely due to higher wages, according to the showing in the annual reports of a number of railroad presidents. These factors have only availed partly to offset the feeling of disapproval with which the incidents in the promotion field are

The Financier of this week says: "One notable feature of the official statement of the New York associated banks last week was the unexpected net increase of $2,779,800 in cash, an amount not only much greater than that which was looked for as the result of the traceable movements of money statement incident to the merger last week merce, which merger also tended to derange other items in the statement.

"The loans were increased by the insignificant sum of $198,400, whereas more de cided changes were expected. Deposits increased only $400,700, an amount less by $1,276,000 than the sum of the increase loans and the net gain in deposits, this sum calling for an increase of $1,676,700 in the last-named item. Therefore, the statement did not balance. "The reserve required as the result of the gain in deposits was $100,175, deducting which from the net gain in cash left $2,-639,625 as the increase in surplus reserve of interpretation of the Japanese-Russian $16,577,125. This is not only greater by $15,-049,775 than the surplus of a year ago, but larger by almost $10,900,000 than that recorded in the week of last year corresponding with the current week and only ing %@%c net higher: May, 83@834c, closed $1,200,000 less than the surplus on Oct. 25, at 83%c; December, 85%@85%c, closed at 1902, when the reserve began to be decided-ly affected by the relief measures which had been inaugurated by Secretary Shaw. Computed upon the basis of deposits, less those of $36,869,300 of public funds, the surplus now is $25,794,450. Circulation increased $40,100.

"The daily average of clearings for the week was $186,000,000, against $231,000,000 in the previous week, when the clearings were augmented by the October settle-

GOOD DEMAND FOR WHEAT

TROUBLE IN THE ORIENT CREATES BULLISH SENTIMENT.

Closing Prices Strong in the Chicago Pit-Corn, Oats and Provisions Higher.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 .- The critical situation in the far East between Russia and Japan, together with a good cash inquiry, were the principal factors in creating a bullish sentiment in wheat to-day. Closing prices were strong, with December up %c to %c. December corn was %c to 1/c higher, oats were up 11/2c to 11/4c, and January provisions closed from 5c to 10c higher.

There was a good general demand for wheat throughout the entire session, and prices showed good gains. The opening was firm on the higher prices in foreign markets, due to the uncertainty in regard to the trouble in the Orient, December being 4c to %c higher at 78%@78%c. One of the prominent bull operators was an early buyer, and which carried the price still higher, December advancing to 79@79%c. Local traders took advantage of the better prices to sell, influenced by the excellent weather, and the market eased off with December selling down to 781/2c. Toward the noon hour prices again started upward on a strong cash demand, and the market continued strong the remainder of the session. After selling up to 79%c December closed with a gain of %c to %c at 79%@79%c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 428,000 bu. Primary receipts were 895,600 bu, against luth reported receipts of 613 cars, which, with local receipts of 82 cars, two of con-

45%c. Local receipts were 324 cars, with 28 of contract grade. An improvement in the cash situation

ing was the liveliest of any of the pits. Leading houses were active on the buying side, and the energy they displayed caused shorts to become thoroughly frightened, and the demand was augmented largely by covering by these people. Offerings were scattered. December ranged between 37@ 37%c and 38%c and closed 1%@1%c higher at 38%c. Local receipts were 121 cars. October lard was the only weak feature in the provision market, the rest of the list ruling firm. The weakness in October lard was due chiefly to lack of support. There | $11 per ton. Peppers, 60c per bu. was fair local buying of January products, based on an advance of 5@10c in prices for hogs, and pork and lard closed 10c higher at $11.95 and $6.671/2 respectively. January ribs were up 5@71/2c, at $6.371/2@6.40. Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 100 cars; corn, 330 cars; oats, 215 cars; hogs,
